Workshop on “Hands on Training for Sophisticated Instruments”

Instruments: HPLC & UV- Visible Spectrophotometer

"A workshop for the UG and PG students of Pharmacy background, titled “Workshop on Hands on Training for Sophisticated Instruments” was conducted by Pharmaceutical Analysis Department, GRY Institute of Pharmacy. This Training Programme was intended to provide basic understanding, operation and hands on training of sophisticated instruments like High Performance Liquid Chromatography (HPLC) and UV-Visible Spectrophotometer”.

OBJECTIVE OF THE PROGRAM

This Training Programme is intended to provide basic understanding, operation and hands on training of sophisticated instruments like High Performance Liquid Chromatography (HPLC) and UV-Visible Spectrophotometer. These instruments are widely used in various industries for analysis of drug products. This training programme can give added advantage to the learner in the cutting edge competition in industries and can help them understanding the role of sophisticated instruments in analytical chemistry.

OUTLINE OF CONTENTS

- It provides basic understanding of HPLC & UV-Visible Spectrophotometer.
- It imparts knowledge about mobile phase and sample preparation.
- It gives hands on training for software of sophisticated instruments.
- It gives knowledge of care required during handling, trouble shooting and maintenance of the instruments.

Training Module

- Introduction to basic principles of chromatography, several HPLC detectors with their applications, columns, binary and isocratic gradients, mobile phases, polarity and retention time.
- Function of UV-Vis detectors and Fluorescence detectors, their working, calibration and applications.
- Preparing test solutions, Mobile Phase, Setup method for HPLC, Data acquisition software.
- Software Quantization, Integration and Report Generation.
- Method development, optimization of various chromatographic parameters.
- Understanding specific applications, prevention, care, maintenance and trouble shooting.

Participants

Workshop on “Communication Skills and Personality Development”

This course will provide the first year students to communicate clearly and with impact, by improving their verbal and non – verbal communication style, as well as enhancing interpersonal skills.

Outcomes

- . To enable students to introduce themselves confidently and comfortably.
 - . Use questions to build positive relationships.
 - . Incorporate (patient centric (Pharma centric)) vocabulary in their daily life and other day-to-day life vocabulary.
 - . How to construct words?
 - . How to write or frame answers?
 - . How to perfectly write or draft letters and e-mails?
 - . Proper use of body language while communicating with others (Personality Development).
- Develop their natural traits towards becoming authentic, personable, and memorable.

“Effective use of ICT”

Introduction: Information and communications technology (ICT) is an extensional term for information technology (IT) that stresses the role of unified communications and the integration of telecommunications (telephone lines and wireless signals) and computers, as well as necessary enterprise software, middleware, storage and audiovisual, that enable users to access, store, transmit, understand and manipulate information.

ICT is also used to refer to the convergence of audiovisual and telephone networks with computer networks through a single cabling or link system. There are large economic incentives to merge the telephone network with the computer network system using a single unified system of cabling, signal distribution, and management. ICT is an umbrella term that includes any communication device, encompassing radio, television, cell phones, computer and network hardware, satellite systems and so on, as well as the various services and appliances with them such as video conferencing and distance learning. ICT also includes analog technology, such as paper communication, and any mode that transmits communication.

Aims

The main aims to familiarize students with term ICT and its effective uses.

Outcomes

By the end of this session, students should be able to:

- Well understand of term ICT and its facility provided by institute.
- Students also gain knowledge about internet and its uses.
- By the end of session students familiarize with audiovisual interaction like video conferencing.
- Students able to operate different type of application that provide ICT environments to student like Zoom meeting app, team meet, Google meet etc
- Students also increase their searching ability to find some authenticated article and useful information

Content

- Basic Knowledge of computer hardware and software
- Introduction of Information technology and its uses.
- Internetworking ,Email communication
- Audiovisual environment and equipments
- Mobile application for ICT

Intended audience

This course is designed for second year students who have little, or no previous experience of information technology and communication with audiovisual facility and would like the opportunity to learn with others in a supportive and encouraging environment.

“Effective use of ICT”

Introduction: Information and communications technology (ICT) is an extensional term for information technology (IT) that stresses the role of unified communications and the integration of telecommunications (telephone lines and wireless signals) and computers, as well as necessary enterprise software, middleware, storage and audiovisual, that enable users to access, store, transmit, understand and manipulate information.

ICT is also used to refer to the convergence of audiovisual and telephone networks with computer networks through a single cabling or link system. There are large economic incentives to merge the telephone network with the computer network system using a single unified system of cabling, signal distribution, and management. ICT is an umbrella term that includes any communication device, encompassing radio, television, cell phones, computer and network hardware, satellite systems and so on, as well as the various services and appliances with them such as video conferencing and distance learning. ICT also includes analog technology, such as paper communication, and any mode that transmits communication.

Aims

The main aims to familiarize students with term ICT and its effective uses.

Outcomes

By the end of this session, students should be able to:

- Well understand of term ICT and its facility provided by institute.
- Students also gain knowledge about internet and its uses.
- By the end of session students familiarize with audiovisual interaction like video conferencing.
- Students able to operate different type of application that provide ICT environments to student like Zoom meeting app, team meet, Google meet etc
- Students also increase their searching ability to find some authenticated article and useful information

“Effective use of ICT”

Introduction: Information and communications technology (ICT) is an extensional term for information technology (IT) that stresses the role of unified communications and the integration of telecommunications (telephone lines and wireless signals) and computers, as well as necessary enterprise software, middleware, storage and audiovisual, that enable users to access, store, transmit, understand and manipulate information.

ICT is also used to refer to the convergence of audiovisual and telephone networks with computer networks through a single cabling or link system. There are large economic incentives to merge the telephone network with the computer network system using a single unified system of cabling, signal distribution, and management. ICT is an umbrella term that includes any communication device, encompassing radio, television, cell phones, computer and network hardware, satellite systems and so on, as well as the various services and appliances with them such as video conferencing and distance learning. ICT also includes analog technology, such as paper communication, and any mode that transmits communication.

Aims

The main aims to familiarize students with term ICT and its effective uses.

Outcomes

By the end of this session, students should be able to:

- Well understand of term ICT and its facility provided by institute.
